Finding Articles in Opposing Viewpoints in Context

Opposing Viewpoints in Context is a general database that contains Viewpoint essays that express an opinion in addition to articles from newspapers, magazines, academic journals, and many other sources.

To get to Opposing Viewpoints in Context start on the UA-PTC Libraries homepage:
http://www.uaptc.edu/library.
- Click on the Databases button and scroll down the alphabetical list.
- Click on Opposing Viewpoints in Context.

Opposing Viewpoints in Context opens to a Basic Search screen with a single search box.

To see how Opposing Viewpoints in Context works, let’s look for articles on fracking.

Type the topic, fracking, in the search box. Then click the magnifying glass, the Search icon.

A citation in MLA format is located at the bottom of the full-text view under Source Citation. Use the Cite icon to access other formats.

Verify this citation with your instructor before using it in your references page.

Click a Content Type to view all results from that source.

Click on the article title in blue to view the full text.

Use icons to Download, Email, or Print the article.